TEAL – The Spiritual Catalyst

Biography

In recent years TEAL, known to many as ‘The Spiritual Catalyst’ or the ‘Giggling Guide’, has become an international sensation and a new voice in the increasingly popular field of metaphysics. Since launching her YouTube channel, TheSpiritualCatalyst in January 2011, she has amassed a significant following. TEAL’s videos have attracted 6 million views and growing with 650,000 views per month and over 78,000 subscribers. Her popularity continues to increase as word of her teachings spreads across the world. TEAL’s first book, The Sculptor in the Sky was published in April 2011 and consistently enjoys rave reviews from readers. TEAL’s second book, How to Love Yourself will be published soon. TEAL is also an accomplished artist, with a vast collection of her unique paintings called “frequency paintings”. These frequency paintings are the subject of multiple billboard campaigns created to increase human consciousness on the planet. Prints are available for sale on her website, thespiritualcatalyst.com. TEAL was born in June 1984 and is part of the first wave of Indigo Children. She was born with a range of extrasensory abilities, including clairvoyance, clairsentience, clairaudience, the ability to manipulate electromagnetic fields and the ability to communicate with thought forms. TEAL uses her abilities to remind people of the united, energetic nature of this universe and to teach them how to find bliss in the midst of the most difficult challenges.

Despite her young age, TEAL is no stranger to extreme adverse circumstances. During her childhood TEAL’s parents, both Wilderness Rangers, accepted a job in the Wasatch-Cache National Forest of Utah, unaware of the intensely religious climate of the location. Word of TEAL’s extraordinary abilities got out and were not only frowned upon, but also feared by many in the local religious community.

TEAL’s abilities attracted the attention of a family acquaintance who inducted her into a local cult, where she was ritualistically and sexually tortured for a period of thirteen years, beginning when TEAL was only six years old. TEAL managed to escape from the cult when she was nineteen and began her process of recovery and transformation.

TEAL hasn’t always embraced her extrasensory abilities. For a time, in an effort to “stay in her body”, she became a competitive Telemark ski racer and competitive long track speed skater. She has also worked as a professional model.

Despite the attention she receives for her extraordinary abilities, TEAL is firm in her belief that psychic abilities are not a power unique to a select few. She maintains such abilities are inherent to humanity, becoming accessible when individuals raise their consciousness. A large part of TEAL’s work is providing easy-to-follow techniques to assist anyone to raise their consciousness and access new levels of awareness, ability and joy.

In 2012 Teal founded Teal Eye LLC. And an accompanying non-profit called Headway. The aim of both the for profit company and the non profit company is to catalyze positive world change. The company will achieve this by providing funding to programs, organizations and products that will revolutionize societal systems in many areas including justice, education, health care and end of life care.

TEAL’s vision is to enable everyone on earth to live free and healthy lives, following their bliss and supporting one another. TEAL’s teachings and Teal Eye LLC are her way of making that vision reality.
